

Odd-Even Gas Rationing System Spreads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Does a motorist traveling through states with odd-even gasoline distribution plans face a morass of confusing, conflicting regulations? Nope, but he'd better carry a calendar with him.

Oregon was the first to go for the odd-even license-plate plan for selling gasoline. Since then, eight other states and the nation's capital have instituted the program.

Two other states will adopt it soon. And at least eight other states are waiting in wings, most of them considering the Oregon plan.

That plan allows motorists with even-numbered plates to buy gasoline on even-numbered days. Odds buy on odd-numbered days.

The federal government has prepared a coupon rationing plan but has not put it into effect. The Federal Energy Office says it would be April before its World War II-style coupon plan could be implemented if it were ordered now.

A growing number of states experiencing severe gasoline shortages and long lines at stations have adopted the Oregon plan as a way to ease the situation. Counties, cities and towns in other states have adopted the plan without waiting for state action.

Motorists traveling through states with distribution plans will find that most of the odd-even plans are about the same. Most are voluntary and most exempt the out-of-state traveler. But there are some tricky exceptions that could foul up travel plans of the unaware.

What follows is a rundown of the statewide plans now in effect or about to be:

OREGON — This is the original odd-even plan. The voluntary plan went into effect Jan. 14. Out-of-staters are exempt. The rules do not apply on Saturdays, and stations are closed on Sundays. Licenses ending in letters are considered even-numbered.

NEW JERSEY — Mandatory. Odd-Even. Dealers can't sell to motorists with half a tank or more. Fines go up to $500 for violators. Went in effect Feb. 11. Letters considered even.

HAWAII — Mandatory. Odd-Even. Went into effect Jan. 28.

WASHINGTON STATE — Voluntary. Odd-Even. Went in Feb. 11. Not in effect Saturday. Stations closed Sundays. Out-of-staters exempt. Letters considered even.

MARYLAND — Mandatory. Odd-

Even. Fines of up to $100 and jail terms up to 60 days. Went in effect Feb. 12. Motorists traveling 75 miles or more in their work, including commuting, are exempt. Not in effect on weekends and holidays. Letters considered even.

NEW YORK — Voluntary. Odd-Even. Went in effect Feb. 11. In effect on Saturday. Stations closed Sundays. Out-of-staters not exempt. Letters considered odd.

MASSACHUSETTS — Voluntary. Odd-Even. Went in effect Feb. 11. In effect on Saturdays. Stations closed Sundays. Thirty-first of month is free day, plan not in effect. No gas for tanks more than half full and $3 minimum purchase. Out-of-staters, traveling salesmen and doctors exempt. Letters considered odd.

PENNSYLVANIA — Voluntary.

ODD-EVEN. Went in effect Feb. 13. Gov. Milton J. Shapp seeking legislative authority to make it mandatory. Not in effect on weekends. But stations closed Sundays. Applies to out-of-staters. Shapp announced change substituting auto inspection sticker numbers for license plate numbers, avoiding problem of licenses that end in letters.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Voluntary. Odd-Even. Went in effect Feb. 11. In effect on Saturdays. Stations open on Sundays and holidays can sell to anybody. Affects only motorists from District, Maryland and Virginia. Dealers asked to sell only if less than half a tank.

VERMONT — Odd-Even, starts Feb. 20. May become mandatory if governor gets legislative approval. The rule doesn't apply on Sunday, but most stations closed anyway. Out-of-staters are exempt. Licenses ending in letters considered odd.

NEW HAMPSHIRE — Voluntary. Odd-Even. Starts on two-week experimental basis Feb. 18. Letters considered odd. Does not apply on weekends, holidays and 31st of the month.

These states, unless otherwise noted, are considering Odd-Even distribution plans:

Arkansas, California, Rhode Island, North Carolina (type uncertain), South Carolina, Connecticut (coupon rationing), Arizona, and Minnesota.

These states have Odd-Even plans in effect in some areas, but not statewide:

Connecticut, West Virginia, Florida, North Carolina, California. Virginia and Arizona.

More Gas Stations Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of gasoline stations around Norfolk, Va., have closed, and dealers in other states have threatened to shut down unless federal officials act on complaints about short supplies and new regulations.

Prime among the dealers' demands are more gasoline, permission to charge higher prices and elimination of a regulation banning preferential treatment for regular customers.

The Justice Department filed its first complaint Friday under the recent regulation, charging the operator of a service station in Glen Ellyn, Ill., with favoring past customers.

The suit against William Miller, operator of a Texaco station in the Chicago suburb, asked a $2,500 penalty and sought an injunction to prevent future violations.

In Washington, the Federal Energy Office said stations may continue to give preferential service to commercial customers or bulk commercial purchasers. The office also said dealers would not be violating FEO rules by complying with state distribution systems, such as alternate-day purchasing based on license plate numbers.

In New York, Exxon said it immediately would increase gasoline allotments to its 26,000 service stations and other customers by about six per cent under a program giving less emphasis to production of heating oil.

Exxon's February gas allocation had been set at 78 per cent of last year's levels. The new allocation ups that to 83 per cent.

Mobil Oil Corp., in a separate announcement, said its service stations would be getting "slightly less" gas in February than they did in January. A spokesman said the February allocation would be 87 per cent of 1972 supplies.

Philippines Fight Grows More Bloody

ZAMBOANGA, Philippines (AP) — At least 10,000 persons are dead or missing after heavy fighting last week in the southern Philippines, according to government officials here.

Officials of the Department of Social Welfare said the 10,000 figure may be conservative.

They speculated that as many as 30,000 persons may have fled the Jolo Island, where the fighting between Moslem secessionists and government troops occurred.

"The dead were just left to decompose on the road or thrown into the sea," said Gabol Lali, a government employee who witnessed the battles. He said troops and civilians were afraid to pick up the bodies because of snipers in burned-out Jolo City.

In Manila, Secretary of National Defense Juan Ponce Enrile called the 10,000 figure "an irresponsible statement" but conceded that more than 60 per cent of the city was destroyed in the fighting. He said not more than 300 civilians and rebels were killed.

Jolo is the capital of the Sulu Island chain 620 miles south of Manila and about 100 miles south of Zamboanga. In recent months, the government said it has confined the Moslem insurgent activities to Jolo Island.

The rebels are fighting to carve out an independent Moslem state in the southern Philippines because they say the Filipino Christian majority discriminates against them.

Enrile held the first formal government briefing since the Moslem secessionists counterattacked Feb. 7 against a government drive to dislodge them from Jolo. He said several battles were continuing.

More Milk Money For Nixon Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some $200,000 in funds from the dairy lobby was secretly passed from congressional campaign committees to the Nixon re-election campaign.

The transfer, around the time of President Nixon's 1972 election victory, brings to $727,000 the amount of money known to have passed to Nixon's political operatives from the nation's three largest dairy co-operatives.

The White House has denied allegations that the dairy lobby's political donations were linked to Nixon's decision to impose certain dairy import quotas and to raise milk price supports in 1971.

The transactions involving the dairy money were reported publicly, as required by federal law. However, the source of the money had been obscured by a series of transfers through established GOP committees.

It wasn't known that the $200,000 taken by Nixon's campaign came originally from the milk producers until testimony to Senate Watergate committee investigators from Bob A. Lilly, political treasurer of Associated Milk Producers.

Lilly said the money had been intended for the Nixon campaign from the start and that the transfers were set up as a conduit scheme to hide the true source, according to Senate sources.

Former Nixon fundraiser Lee Nunn, contacted Friday by telephone at his home in Kentucky, confirmed that the dairy money was drawn off from the Republican House and Senate campaign committees and into the Nixon campaign.

Nunn said Nixon finance chief Maurice H. Stans arranged for the transfers as a repayment of money the President's campaign had advanced to the two GOP congressional committees.

Good Farm Year Has Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is more optimistic about farmers prospering this year, but there are some giant qualifications.

Until now, USDA economists have been predicting 1974 net farm income will be down from last year's record of $26 billion to a range of $20 billion to $23 billion.

Even at the lower end, 1974 net farm income would be the second biggest ever, eclipsing the 1972 mark of $19.7 billion.

But Friday the department's Outlook and Situation Board said farmers can expect incomes this year to total $24 billion to $25 billion if record output is accomplished.

The shocker, however, was a prediction that 1974 farm profits could soar to $30 billion if production items are short, weather is bad, harvests cut back and demand remains strong.

"On the other hand, if the energy crisis were to generate a concerted slowdown in major foreign markets and the U.S. economy were to weaken sharply under high inflation and increasing unemployment, demand would be substantially weaker," the board said in a preliminary report on the demand and price situation.

In that case, farm income could drop to $20 billion, the report said. Officials said the estimate of $24 billion to $25 billion is "most likely" for farmers in 1974.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics in USDA, said the $30 billion figure — in a situation of strong demand and smaller production — could result from prices soaring so high that farmers would get more than enough profit to offset smaller output.

The effect on consumers, however, would be a much higher jump in food prices than expected. On Thursday, the department said it was "most likely" retail food prices in 1974 would average 12 per cent above last year but admitted they could go up 16 per cent if production falters.

Paarlberg said the potential 16 per cent rise in 1974 food prices, in that case, would be under the same conditions in which farm income jumped to $30 billion.

Hearst Behind In Bid To Meet Kidnap Demands

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Randolph A. Hearst has only the remainder of the long holiday weekend to meet the initial demand of his daughter's kidnapers. He says he is behind schedule.

The Symbionese Liberation Army gave Hearst until Tuesday to begin distributing $70 worth of food for each needy Californian as a precondition for negotiations for the release of 19-year-old Patricia Hearst, abducted Feb. 4.

In a tape received from the SLA Tuesday, one of the abductors calling himself Field Marshal General Cinque said: "I am quite willing to carry out the execution of your daughter to save the life of starving men, women and children of every race."

Hearst termed the food distribution request an impossible task that could cost as much as $400 million. However, he said he would try to comply, at least in part. He told reporters Friday he was a "couple of days behind."

"What I hope to do is give food to people who really need it and not just assume that anybody with a welfare card who wants to can go in and pick it up," Hearst said. "I don't know the details yet."

The food giveaway program involves legal problems, Hearst told newsmen outside his mansion in Hillsborough, Calif., 15 miles south of San Francisco. He would not elaborate.

Published reports Friday identified "Cinque," a name taken from the leader of an 1839 revolt aboard the slave ship, L'Amistad, as Donald David DeFreeze, 30. The reports, in the San Francisco Chronicle and the Oakland Tribune, also identified Thero M. Wheeler, 29, as a suspect.

Hearst is president and editor of the Examiner.

Charles Bates, FBI agent handling the case, called the reports "pure speculation," even though photographs of the men resembled composites made of the suspects.

"My impression is that either one could be, but there are probably 100,000 who could be suspects," Bates said. "There is nothing specific at all to link either man with the kidnaping."

Believe Wrong Information Brought Ohio Gasoline Cut

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Public Utilities Commission Chairman Edmund Turk says the Federal Energy Office may have had some wrong information when it ordered a 2 per cent cut in Ohio's gasoline allocation.

Turk told a hearing of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee Friday the energy office's decision may have resulted from some misplaced decimal points.

Turk said state officials were having trouble communicating with federal officials and criticized them for not contacting the state before the decision was made.

"Instead of cooperation...we see bickering between cabinet members...Instead of conclusive data, we receive vague reports which are often more confusing than illuminating," Turk said.

Weather

Cloudy with chance of light rain in the afternoon. High near 40. Partly cloudy tonight, low, upper 20s. Fair Sunday, high, mid 40s. Probability of precipitation, 40 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and zero per cent tomorrow.

Gov. John J. Gilligan told the committee Ohio may go to court to contest the allocation reduction.

A federal official who was at the hearing said if there was an error in Ohio's allotment it would be corrected.

U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, presided over the hearing.

Standard Oil Co. dealer James L. Weidig of Ashtabula told the committee he was losing business because of Sohio's high prices. He said his nearest competitor was selling gasoline 3.7 cents a gallon cheaper than he was.

"How can I explain the difference in price to my customers?" Weidig asked. "Why doesn't Sohio drop the...price five cents per gallon and keep competitive...?"

Richard C. Donaldson, vice president and general counsel of Sohio, answered that question for the committee, saying Sohio has to pass along higher crude oil costs to stay in business.

Donaldson said that while some oil companies have their own supplies, Sohio has to buy more than 85 per cent of its crude oil, most of it from high-priced foreign markets.

Gilligan Sets Closed Meet With Demos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan planned a closed meeting at the mansion today with Ohio's big county Democratic chairmen in an effort to curb dissension among some key party officials.

One of the main issues centered about the firing last week of David B. Meeker as the party's executive director and the subsequent resignation of four other state headquarters' officials.

Meeker was fired by State Chairman William A. Lavelle after they disagreed over the handling of a party endorsement for secretary of state three days earlier, and possibly some other earlier issues.

At least two of the chairmen, Paul Tipps of Montgomery County and William Boyle of Lucas County, had complained privately that they don't like "summary actions" at state headquarters in which the chairmen are not consulted.

There was one report that Chairman Earl Cunningham of Summit County would seek to have Meeker reinstated. He reportedly sent out a letter announcing his intention to make such an effort.

Arab States Eye Use For Money

LONDON (AP) — Key Arab oil states have agreed on preliminary plans to use some of their swollen oil revenues to set up multimillion dollar development banks for Asia and Africa, according to diplomatic sources here.

Senior diplomats of some of the Arab governments involved say, however, that the states continue to disagree over specifics on running the banks.

For example, they say, Saudi Arabia and some other Arab countries want to confine the banks' operations in Asia to Moslem countries like Afghanistan, Pakistan and Bangladesh. Other regimes, including Algeria, insists that such a policy would deny aid to friendly nations like India.

As for Africa, the diplomats say Arab governments are fighting over the site of the African bank's headquarters. The Sudanese, Algerians, Egyptians and Lebanese have reportedly offered their capitals, but informants say Cairo or Beirut is likely to be chosen because of their more suitable living facilities for bank employees.

According to the preliminary plans, each of the banks will start off with relatively modest financing, around $500 million. But the Arab oil producers are expected to accumulate about $90 billion in total foreign exchange assets by 1980, and new donations to the banks will always be accepted, the sources said.

The sources said the banks would provide aid to needy nations that rallied politically to the Arab cause before and after the October war with Israel and give those nations special grants or loans to meet the increasing costs of oil.

The banks also would allow the Arabs to invest surplus oil revenue in development projects in Asia and Africa in anticipation of the eventual reduction of fuel prices when resources dry up or alternative power sources emerge.

The Federal Trade Commission is doing it's best to protect us from unfair advertising claims. Of the many court injunctions brough about by the commission, one prevents a contact lense company from claiming that hard contact lenses can be worn 34 hours a day, that a person can sleep in hard contact lenses, that there is little or no discomfort in wearing them, and that sleeping with hard contact lenses will improve the wearer's eyesight. Believe it or not, these claims have been made in advertising and of course are alleged false by the F. T. C., and even considered a health hazard. One must keep an eye out for false advertising, even for eye wear!

Another area of commission contention is in packaging craft items. Most people have a favorite craft. The big boom is in pre-packaged craft projects with everything you need in one sealed box. But, the F. T. C. finds that many craft projects pre-packaged in pieces are put into boxes much bigger than they need to be, misleading the buyer about the actual size of the craft. They find that parts of many crafts could be boxed in much smaller containers. Be sure to read the "finished size" listed on the craft box. Don't just look at the box size, or you may be disappointed. One must ask the question, "Just why do these companies put craft pieces in oversized boxes, if not to fool us?" Isn't it nice to know that someone somewhere is checking out some of these problems? But we must all keep an eye out as good consumers! The F. T. C. can't protect us from everything.

Is March 21st marked on your calendar? It's the first day of Spring! Coming fashion highlights for daffodil days are: "natural" and rustic looking fabrics; plaids, checks, stripes and dots; denim, chambray, calico, and patchwork prints for sportswear; motifs such as animals, birds, sporting equipment, cards; heavy embroidery and decorative stitching on jeans and t-shirts; a lot of ribbing on lightweight knits. Israel seems to be influencing the world styles with breathtaking sleeve, hemline, and center-front embroidery. Shoulder embroidery on denim jackets is everywhere for spring.

Much as we love them, mushrooms seem to be victims of faulty canning last season. The F. D. A. has warned consumers that mushrooms, canned by 2 companies, a total of 65 brands, may be contaminated and could cause botulism food poisoning. And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

In general, narrowleaf evergreens should be pruned during the winter when they are dormant. Some people like to do this at Christmas so the greens or trimmings can be used for decorations.

The exception to winter pruning of evergreens is the pine. Pine trees should be pruned in the spring after the candle growth develops.

Prune narrowleaf evergreens according to their growth habits. Allow these plants to assume their natural shape. Do not shape them into balls, birds or other formal habits. Pruning is a matter of cutting the branches so a more desirable plant is attained through compact, controlled growth. This requires pruning individual stems rather than shearing. Shearing not only ruins the natural habit of growth but prevents light from penetrating the center of the plants, resulting in foliage drop. In addition, insect and disease control become difficult when spray materials cannot penetrate to the center of the plants.

Broadleaf evergreens have an advantage over narrowleaf evergreens in that they require little, if any, pruning. Some pruning may be necessary such as removing dead, broken, severely damaged or diseased and insect infested branches. Also, branches that are detrimental to the shape of the plant should be removed.

The most important practice to follow is the removal of spent flowers such as the bloom of Rhododendron. If this is done, more growth will be produced by the plant and more flowers will form for the next year.

A plant that deserves special attention is Pyracantha or firethorn. Many gardeners feel there is no good time to prune this plant. The flowers for the next year are produced on the previous season's growth.

If the plant is large or overgrown, then the best time of the year to prune is in the late winter when it is dormant. This practice will eliminate most or all of the flowers for the next spring, depending on how severely the plant is cut back. When a light pruning is required, winter is still the proper time. If careful when pruning these branches, enough of last year's growth can be left to insure flowering for the current year. Pruning Pyracantha in the summer reduces or eliminates fruiting in the fall, again depending on how severely the plant is pruned.

Severe pruning any time of the year reduces flowers and fruits. Thus, prune lightly every year rather than extensively every several years.

Extension Bulletin 543, "Pruning Landscape Plants," provides drawings and detailed information on how to prune plants. Get a copy from your local Extension Service office, at 137 W. Franklin Street, or phone 474-7534.

Corn-Soybean Acreage Hinges On Nitrogen Supply

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

The acreage of farm land actually planted to corn and soybeans this spring could vary greatly from acreages reported in the intentions report issued by the Statistical Reporting Service on January 22. That's the feeling of Herbert Hadley, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University.

That report was based on a January 1 survey of farmers in 35 major corn and soybean producing states. The survey said U.S. farmers intended to plant 10 per cent more acres of corn and 3.3 per cent less acres of soybeans this year than last. That would amount to 77.4 million acres of corn and 54.9 million acres of soybeans.

Hadley points out that great uncertainty exists about the amount of nitrogen fertilizer which will be available at corn planting time. Corn acreage will also be affected by the weather as well as the relative prices of corn and soybeans at planting time.

4-H...People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Since the enrollment time for 4-H is upon us and many of the 4-H clubs have all ready held their organizational meeting, I would like to discuss some of the awards and trips that are available to older 4-H youth.

Older 4-H youth have an opportunity to win many trips and scholarships by filling out the national report forms. These forms tell the kinds of projects they have taken, the learning activities in which they have participated and the leadership skills they have developed. The youth can win trips to National 4-H Congress, National Founders Camp, The Institute of Cooperation or National 4-H Conferences. In addition, the youth has a chance of winning one of 249 educational and college scholarships valued at $172,400, win watches, savings bonds, plaques, and other awards. Yes, there are many opportunities for achievement in 4-H.

One of the best ways a boy or girl can win achievement for himself is by joining a project club. Through these clubs he has fun while learning by doing. One of our most outstanding clubs in the county is our tractor club. In this club boys and girls learn maintenance, lubrication and minor repair of tractors. This year the club has been expanded to include small engines. This is a must for any youth who will some day be using a lawn mower or garden tractor.

See Flu Epidemic Possible In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State health officials today warned of a possible flu epidemic and urged families to take precautions, particularly with young school children.

Dr. John H. Ackerman, chief of the health department's communicable disease division, said outbreaks of the illness have been reported in Clermont, Logan, Montgomery and Butler counties. Many schools have been closed, he said.

Ackerman said symptoms of the influenza include cough, fever, runny nose and general listlessness.

Wholesale Prices Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices boomed upward in January at the second highest monthly rate on record as the inflationary spiral stretched across the entire economy, the government said today.

Wholesale price rises mean that the higher costs will be translated into higher retail prices in the weeks ahead, as inflation shows no letup for the consumer.

Sharply higher wholesale costs for farm products, industrial commodities, consumer finished goods and fuels pushed the wholesale price index up by a seasonally adjusted 3.1 per cent, a rise exceeded only by the record 6.2 per cent of last August.

If January's rate is computed on an annual basis, it comes out to an annual rate of inflation of 37.2 per cent — 3.1 per cent a month for 12 months.

Wholesale prices, accelerating in the past few months, have risen at an annual rate of 32.3 per cent in the past three months, a record. In the past 12 months, they have gone up 20.8 per cent, the second highest rise for any 12-month period since October 1947.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Bachelor Thinks He Loves Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I sure dig your column. Do you write all those answers yourself? Or have you got a whole mess of writers who do it for you?

And that picture of you is a gas! How old is it? Is that really you? I'll bet in real life you're a fat old maid who takes her frustrations out telling other people how to live.

I'm a 38-year-old bachelor. Never been married, but I've been around a lot. If that's really your picture and it's not more than 10 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. Do you think you could live in Fort Wayne, Ind.?

RUSTY

DEAR RUSTY: I write all those answers myself, that picture is ME, and it's a recent one. Anyone who lived in Sioux City, Iowa, and Eau Claire, Wis., can live in Fort Wayne and love it. However, I'm still married to the same man I married 34 years ago, and I'm old enough to be your mother.

DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. His, also. Three years ago Carl won me over by pretending to love my two children. He took them on picnics, to the beach, etc. As soon as the honeymoon was over, he ignored them completely! He finally admitted he actually hates children! The boy, now 10, is under a doctor's care because of the tension at home. The girl, 15, ran away twice because she couldn't stand this "institution." When Carl comes home from work he goes right to his bedroom and nobody sees him until dinnertime. At dinner, the extent of his conversation is: "Sit up straight, both you kids, and keep your elbows off the table!"

After dinner he retires to his bedroom to watch TV. We can be watching the same channel in another room, but Carl prefers to watch it alone.

We never visit anybody, and no one visits us.

He hasn't kissed me hello or goodbye in two years. There is no sex, either. I am clean and neat and pleasant. I am 33. He's 42. He's a good provider, but what good is that when everything else is lacking? Don't suggest counseling. My son's doctor suggested that, and Carl said: "No one has to tell me how to live my life."

Please help me.

DESPONDENT

DEAR DESPONDENT: Ask your husband what he is getting out of your marriage. (He can hire a cook and housekeeper.) Unless he agrees to counseling, talk to a lawyer about a separation or divorce. And I hope you're qualified to work outside your home, because you may have to.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm dumb, but I can't figure something out, and I hope you'll help me.

My husband sometimes likes a little change, so he goes out with another woman. Then he comes home and tells me the truth. He says as long as he TELLS me about it I can't call it CHEATING on me.

In a way, I guess he's right. But I still don't think I should have to put up with it. Do I?

DELIA

DEAR DELIA: Not unless you want to. TELLING you that he has been unfaithful to you doesn't excuse his unfaithfulness. He's just one cut above most cheaters. They lie. He tells you the truth, but he's still a cheater.

CONFIDENTIAL FOR "YELLOW RIBBON": There is no situation as hopeless as a single girl who has got it bad for a married man who never had it so good.

Have Gun-Hand Over!

Back in the '30s, when robbers had no difficulty in finding parking places in front of banks they planned to rob, crime was near to open warfare. The criminal hit violently at society and society responded in the same manner.

Nowadays, matters are arranged differently. Bank robbers, at least some of them, have become polite. A terse note, "I've got a gun, hand over the money," proves effective enough. Some banks have instructed their employees to do just that and leave apprehension of the criminal to the police.

All manner of solutions—most of them impractical—occur. Banks could install trap doors in front of tellers' windows that could be sprung by the teller touching a button with her foot, catapulting the bandit into the cellar to await police. But a question arises here. Couldn't the bandit claim he should have been advised of his right to legal counsel before such rude treatment?

As things are now, banditry is too easy. About the most banks have been able to do to discourage holdups is to mount cameras to take the culprits' pictures in the act. It would be discouraging to anyone to see his picture in the paper depicting him engaged in such activities.

NEW YORK — The Father of Our Country was a Mother's Boy. Mary Ball Washington kept a protective eye on the eldest of her six children by Augustine Washington, a modestly fixed Virginia planter, Parson Weems not withstanding, it's not likely that Mrs. Washington ever permitted her pride and joy to play with an axe in the neighborhood of a cherry tree. She was so possessive of him that she adamantly refused his pleas to go to sea when he was 13. His formal education had ended about then.

The maritime life was the suggestion of his hero, Lawrence Washington, his half-brother who had been splendidly educated in England and engaged in such high adventures as being part of the Virginia Volunteers who accompanied Adm. Edward Vernon on his daring, if unsuccessful, raid on Cartagena, New Grenada (Columbia) in 1741.

Lawrence became a father to George when their father Augustine died in 1743. Lawrence, who improved the family fortune by marrying the daughter of the rich and powerful Lord Thomas Fairfax, wielded the scissors that cut 15-year-old George from his mother's apronstrings. He overcame her misgivings and took George along with him to help survey Fairfax's extensive lands beyond the Blue Ridge Mountains. It was George's first time away from home; first real brush with the country that would, in time, call him its father.

Before and shortly after that, teenager G. Waffington, (as he signed his name correctly, in the day when an "s" sometimes looked like an "f") showed the influence of his mother and half-brother by writing a set of rules of civility and polite behavior in company and in conversation. Some of them are reprinted in the current issue of "The American Way," to be found aboard every American Airlines flying machine, a thundering airborne vehicle which would have scared the wits out of Washington. Even at Valley Forge. The historians do not tell us whether George was considered a bit of a square by his young contemporaries. Here are some Washingtonians:

— Mock not nor jest at anything of importance; break no jests that are sharp or biting; and if you deliver anything witty or pleasant, abstain from laughing there at yourself.

— When your superiors talk to anybody, hear them; neither speak nor laugh.

— In the presence of others sing not to yourself with a humming voice, nor drum with your fingers or feet.

— Speak not when others speak, sit not when others stand and walk not when others stop.

— Let your discourse with men of business be short and comprehensive.

— Break not a jest when none take pleasure in mirth. Laugh not loud, nor at all without occasion. Deride no man's misfortunes, though there seem to be some cause. Let your countenance be pleasant, but in serious matters somewhat grave.

— Be no flatterer, neither play with any one that delights not to be played with.

— Think before you speak; pronounce not imperfectly, nor bring out your words too hastily, but orderly and distinctly.

— Let your recreations be manful, not sinful.

— Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.

— Be not hasty to believe flying reports to the disparagement of any one.

— Turn not your back to others,

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In announcing record high earnings for 1973, corporate chief executives are quick to relate them to both historical and industry standards.

In so doing it may sound as if they are apologizing for what appear to be windfalls, but one after another of them is just as quick in attempting to disabuse the public of that notion.

A big increase in profits, they note, might mean only that the previous year's income was low. That indeed has been the case for several years. Profits have been in a slump since the late 1960s.

The real indicators of whether earnings are inordinately high or low are the profit margins and the rates of return. The first refers to the percentage of sales that is kept as profit, the second to profits as a percentage of stockholder equity.

Profit margins for manufacturing companies have ranged from 4.5 per cent to 6.4 per cent since 1960, but individual industries have scored well beyond those figures.

The pharmaceutical and medicinal products industry has been especially successful in retaining a large portion of its sales dollar. In 1972 it kept 9.9 per cent, the highest ratio of any industry.

The petroleum production and refining industry has come close to those figures in the past decade, but from 1966, when its return was 9.5 per cent, it has had successively weaker years. In 1972 it earned 6.5 per cent.

The iron and steel industry has had lean years recently, with its profit margin a bit below or above 3 per cent from 1970 to 1972. But when 1973 figures are complete they probably will show a sharp advance to about 5 per cent.

especially in speaking; jog not the table or desk on which another reads or writes; lean not on any one.

— Strive not with your superiors in argument, but always submit your judgement to others with modesty.

— Go not thither where you know not whether you shall be welcome or not. Give not advice without being asked; and when desired, do it briefly.

— Being to advise or reprehend any one, consider whether it ought to be in public or in private, present or at some other time, also in what terms to do it; and in reproving show no signs of cholera but do it with sweetness and mildness.

Wonder what George would have thought of some of today's kids? Would he have considered going AWOL? Or back to Mom?

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A method is being sought for the earliest possible diagnosis of breast cancer, for it is an accepted fact that when these tumors are found early and treated immediately, the chances for complete recovery are vastly increased.

Dr. Jeffrey Schlom, of the National Cancer Institute, working in collaboration with Dr. S. Spiegelman of Columbia University, reported experimental evidence that immunological tests may soon be available to detect early breast cancer.

For people with hay fever who are sensitive to ragweed pollen, a new preparation may soon be available.

Dr. Roy Patterson, of Northwestern University in Chicago, is enthusiastic about a polymer of antigen E for the control of hay fever. A polymer is a chemical variation of the material now used to desensitize people to the offending factor present in ragweed pollen.

Birth defects in the newborn are taking a prominent place on the scientific agenda in laboratories and hospitals all over the world.

Dr. Tibor Devenyi, of the Institute of Biochemistry in Hungary, originated a screening technique by which metabolic errors in the newborn can be readily detected.

It is known as "chromatography" and is performed by taking a small sample of blood from the newborn baby's heel. The blood is then dried and put through an automatic analyzer which can provide information of great diagnostic value.

This color photo technique holds great promise for the detection of metabolic errors that can be corrected soon after the baby is born.

Dr. L. Henry Edmunds, Jr., of the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, has devised an oxygenator which, it is hoped, will reduce the large amount of blood that is usually necessary for open heart surgery.

The usual requirement of 15 to 20 pints of blood has, by this method, been reduced to two or three pints during and after surgery.

Solons Planning Bills To Boost Petroleum Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, said Friday he and other legislators will introduce bills aimed at increasing petroleum supplies while holding down prices.

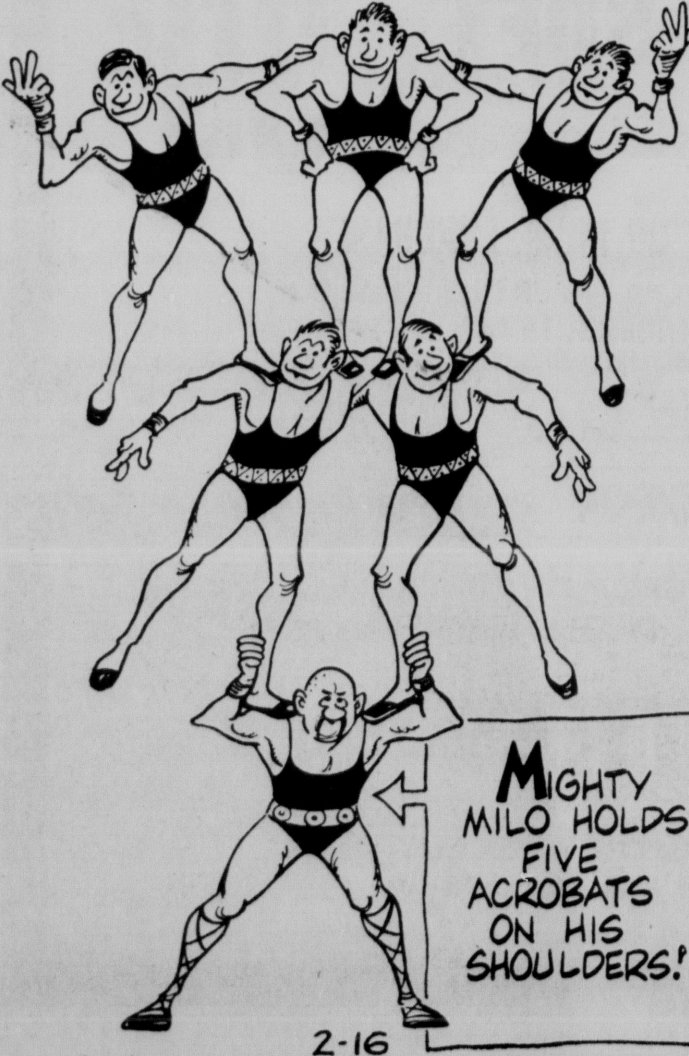

He said at least 11 other representatives and 21 senators are cosponsoring the legislation for an immediate rollback of petroleum prices and creation of a TVA-type federal oil and gas corporation.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, in a letter to Duke Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas, called for an end to the present system by which some petroleum imports are subject to a license fee.

"It is incredibly difficult for one to understand how the administration can find any public purpose behind this scheme which seeks to restrict and control imports of desperately needed oil to the United States," Vanik said.

They'll Do It Every Time

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer
EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Traveling with children is a lesson in logistics.

Anyone who has vacationed with three small boys knows full well the problems Hannibal faced in crossing the Alps.

If the vacation was more than a week, he also understands the problems of supply that doomed Napoleon's Russian mission.

In theory, it is possible for each person to have his own suitcase, self-contained, which he carries himself into the motel. Each person then is responsible for his own swim suit, pajamas, and sneakers.

That is theory.

Practice is more like Mother's good shoes being in the same bag as the dirty clothes which we left in the trunk.

And Daddy's belt being at home on the hook behind the door.

An alternative theory of packing, used when there is a travel en route to a fixed destination, is to put into a single suitcase all the things needed for an overnight stay; once there you can unpack and sprawl, but en route, efficiency is the rule.

The problem is that nobody ever made a suitcase big enough to hold the equipment for three young children, even grubby ones whose parents really don't care what they look like, and two adults, who care even less about what they look like in the motel dining room where all the tables have candles and there is a band and dancing.

Another alternative theory, useful for a lot of one-night stands, is to take only two changes of clothing for everybody and wash a lot. This theory is advanced by campers, laundromat owners and bleach salesmen.

Like all theories, it has its fallacies. The most basic is the belief that five people, even five very common people, can exist on two outfits.

Two pairs of jeans and two T-shirts are fine, mostly, but if we stop by Woonsocket we'll want to call the Briarlys and they'll probably ask us out to dinner and we don't want to all go out there in dirty old jeans and so we better put in just one good outfit. And, when we get to Richmond, the boys will want to go fishing so we better have some really old clothes — third generation, twice removed, as opposed to their daily garb of second generation. And we will need a warm outfit in case it's cold in the hills.

Thus the packing crisis escalates.

The vacation vehicle offers some prospects of relief; you simply move from permanent house to vacation house on wheels, complete with closets. Assuming your backyard oil well copes with the cost, this is a solution of sorts.

The problem, of course, is that no vacation home yet quite equates to a two-story colonial with five walk-in closets. And clothing expands, even at home, to exceed the available space.

Still, the vacation vehicle may be the answer. If we can just tow a trailer with a steamer trunk for each kid. Mom and Dad may be able to share one trunk. For the first trip at least.

Irving On Parole; With Sons

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving has been placed on parole and reunited with his two young sons.

Irving, who served 16 months in a federal prison as a result of writing a fake autobiography of Howard Hughes, said Thursday he plans to write a book about his prison experiences.

"Prison is a farce, a disaster and one of the great contributors to the crime rate," Irving said in a sidewalk interview.

Irving's sons — Nedsky, 6, and Barnaby, 4 — landed at Kennedy Airport later in the day in the company of a family friend.

Irving's wife, Edith, is in a Swiss prison for her part in the scheme, which involved depositing money in Swiss banks. Irving got $750,000 from the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. for the Hughes book. Most of the money was recovered.

Under the terms of his parole, Irving must spend a year in the United States.

'Family-A-Fair' New State Slogan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judges have selected "Family-A-Fair" as the slogan for the 1974 Ohio State Fair, it was announced today.

The entry was submitted by Wahnita Carlson of Milan, Ohio, who won a free weekend at the fair for her family, plus $150 spending money and free ride and admission tickets.

The slogan "expresses exactly what we feel the Ohio State Fair is: a family adventure," said Vic Lucas, general fair manager.

The fair opens Aug. 22.

It was George's first time away from home; first real brush with the country that would, in time, call him its father.

Before and shortly after that, teenager G. Washington, (as he signed his name correctly, in the day when an "s" sometimes looked like an "f") showed the influence of his mother and half-brother by writing a set of rules of civility and polite behavior in company and in conversation. Some of them are reprinted in the current issue of "The American Way," to be found aboard every American Airlines flying machine, a thundering airborne vehicle which would have scared the wits out of Washington. Even at Valley Forge. The historians do not tell us whether George was considered a bit of a square by his young contemporaries. Here are some Washingtonians:

— Mock not nor jest at anything of importance; break no jests that are sharp or biting; and if you deliver anything witty or pleasant, obtain from laughing there at yourself.

— When your superiors talk to anybody, hear them; neither speak nor laugh.

— In the presence of others sing not to yourself with a humming voice, nor drum with your fingers or feet.

— Speak not when others speak, sit not when others stand and walk not when others stop.

— Let your discourse with men of business be short and comprehensive.

— Break not a jest when none take pleasure in mirth. Laugh not loud, nor at all without occasion. Deride no man's misfortunes, though there seem to be some cause. Let your countenance be pleasant, but in serious matters somewhat grave.

— Be no flatterer, neither play with any one that delights not to be played with.

— Think before you speak; pronounce not imperfectly, nor bring out your words too hastily, but orderly and distinctly.

— Let your recreations be manful, not sinful.

— Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.

— Be not hasty to believe flying reports to the disparagement of any one.

— Turn not your back to others,

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — In announcing record high earnings for 1973, corporate chief executives are quick to relate them to both historical and industry standards.

In so doing it may sound as if they are apologizing for what appear to be windfalls, but one after another of them is just as quick in attempting to disabuse the public of that notion.

A big increase in profits, they note, might mean only that the previous year's income was low. That indeed has been the case for several years. Profits have been in a slump since the late 1960s.

The real indicators of whether earnings are inordinately high or low are the profit margins and the rates of return. The first refers to the percentage of sales that is kept as profit, the second to profits as a percentage of stockholder equity.

Profit margins for manufacturing companies have ranged from 4.5 per cent to 6.4 per cent since 1960, but individual industries have scored well beyond those figures.

The pharmaceutical and medicinal products industry has been especially successful in retaining a large portion of its sales dollar. In 1972 it kept 9.9 per cent, the highest ratio of any industry.

The petroleum production and refining industry has come close to those figures in the past decade, but from 1966, when its return was 9.5 per cent, it has had successively weaker years. In 1972 it earned 6.5 per cent.

The iron and steel industry has had lean years recently, with its profit margin a bit below or above 3 per cent from 1970 to 1972. But when 1973 figures are complete they probably will show a sharp advance to about 5 per cent.

especially in speaking; jog not the table or desk on which another reads or writes; lean not on any one.

— Strive not with your superiors in argument, but always submit your judgement to others with modesty.

— Go not thither where you know not whether you shall be welcome or not. Give not advice without being asked; and when desired, do it briefly.

— Being to advise or reprehend any one, consider whether it ought to be in public or in private, present or at some other time, also in what terms to do it; and in reproving show no signs of choler but do it with sweetness and mildness.

Wonder what George would have thought of some of today's kids? Would he have considered going AWOL? Or back to Mom?

For a while, Denver Greenlee was handing out free fresh fish like mad — about 600 fresh perch and 33 pickerel — all because seven local fishermen had a good day fishing through the ice off the edge of Lake Erie. The seven men were: Dr. Ray Carroll, Tom Bennett, Knowles Bowen, Bob Wood, Dave McDonald, Dick Bowers and Greenlee.

Fire that threatened downtown Circleville with major catastrophe for nearly an hour turned the towering Maizo Mill into a blazing inferno with loss estimated at $100,000.

Ed Grigg, general manager of Circleville General Electric Lamp Works, was elected president of Circleville Rotary Club. Other officers were Ervin Leist, vice president; Charles T. Gilmore, secretary; Howard Smith, treasurer; Louis Grace and Dr. Robert Smith, directors.

Wes Edstrom was appointed to lead the Pickaway County Heart Fund Campaign.

Solons Planning Bills To Boost Petroleum Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, said Friday he and other legislators will introduce bills aimed at increasing petroleum supplies while holding down prices.

He said at least 11 other representatives and 21 senators are cosponsoring the legislation for an immediate rollback of petroleum prices and creation of a TVA-type federal oil and gas corporation.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, in a letter to Duke Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas, called for an end to the present system by which some petroleum imports are subject to a license fee.

"It is incredibly difficult for one to understand how the administration can find any public purpose behind this scheme which seeks to restrict and control imports of desperately needed oil to the United States," Vanik said.

closets. Assuming your backyard oil well copes with the cost, this is a solution of sorts.

The problem, of course, is that no vacation home yet quite equates to a two-story colonial with five walk-in closets. And clothing expands, even at home, to exceed the available space.

Still, the vacation vehicle may be the answer. If we can just tow a trailer with a steamer trunk for each kid. Mom and Dad may be able to share one trunk. For the first trip at least.

Irving On Parole; With Sons

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving has been placed on parole and reunited with his two young sons.

Irving, who served 16 months in a federal prison as a result of writing a fake autobiography of Howard Hughes, said Thursday he plans to write a book about his prison experiences.

"Prison is a farce, a disaster and one of the great contributors to the crime rate," Irving said in a sidewalk interview.

Irving's sons — Nedsky, 6, and Barnaby, 4 — landed at Kennedy Airport later in the day in the company of a family friend.

Irving's wife, Edith, is in a Swiss prison for her part in the scheme, which involved depositing money in Swiss banks. Irving got $750,000 from the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. for the Hughes book. Most of the money was recovered.

Under the terms of his parole, Irving must spend a year in the United States.

The entry was submitted by Wahita Carlson of Milan, Ohio, who won a free weekend at the fair for her family, plus $150 spending money and free ride and admission tickets.

The slogan "expresses exactly what we feel the Ohio State Fair is: a family adventure," said Vic Lucas, general fair manager.

The fair opens Aug. 22.

Church Circle Has Program Titled 'Problems Of Aging'

Circle 1 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church discussed plans for projects during its Wednesday evening meeting in the home of Delores Bennington, 107 Reber Ave.

The session, attended by 15 members and two guests, was begun with prayer by Elaine Bowman and Mary E. Radcliffe.

Blanche Kerns distributed pamphlets on a call to prayer and asked members to not forget to use the thank offering boxes.

Sue Roan asked for assistance at the Clothing Center on Feb. 13th and April 24th. Members voted to donate money to help purchase soap powder, bar soap and tissues for the center.

She asked members to save magazines, small candies, jewelry and hosiery for the Columbus State Hospital as well as stamps.

Also on the saving list are newspapers to make hospital pads on Feb. 20th, at 9 a.m., at the Service Center. Those helping with the sewing are asked to bring needles, thread and scissors.

Announcement was made that the World Day of Prayer will be held in March at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Mrs. Bennington asked for articles to be collected for the sidewalk sale on July 19th. Members voted for a special project and church cookbooks.

Elizabeth Valentine, program leader, used as her subject "Problems of Aging" and read scripture from Matthew 24-36. She discussed how older people need help and said there are one out of every 10 persons over 65 years of age. She said these people are lonely and need friends. Retired and with time on their hands they feel old and useless and being alone adds to their depression. Most have worked hard all their lives and now have very little to live on. Many become ill and are forced to accept assistance. Some are not able to go to the grocery or church and all have individual problems.

There are 500 aging people living in county homes with not much help to take care of them. The high cost of living interferes with them being independent. They have a purpose for living and should not feel useless.

She said there are four things to remember: give time to visit aging people, read or write for them, give flowers, fruit or cookies and prayers as they can help.

The meeting was closed with the group singing "Count Your Blessings" and prayer by Elizabeth Valentine.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Florence Valentine, with Mary E. Radcliffe as program director.

Whooping Crane
Dies Suddenly;
Cause Sought

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pepper, one of only three whooping cranes ever born and bred in captivity, has died at 18.

Since cranes often live past the age of 60, Pepper's death is being investigated by the Louisiana State University School of Veterinary Medicine, the Louisiana Toxicology Laboratory and Tulane University.

Pepper's death Thursday came as a surprise because he gave "no warning that he was ailing or in anything but good health," said Audubon Park Director John A. Moore.

North America's largest bird, whooping cranes breed in Canada and winter in southeastern Texas and the marshes of Louisiana.

Present were: Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. William A. Cox, Mrs. Rex Wood, Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. William Curtiss, Mrs. O.C. West, Mrs. Ruby Wallon.

AFTERNOON COFFEE

Vanilla chess pie and coffee.

Vanilla Chess Pie

Readers have requested this.

½ cup butter

1½ cups sugar

¾ teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vanilla

3 eggs

Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, trimmed and crimped

Cream butter, sugar, salt and vanilla. Thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time; mixture will be thick. Turn into pie shell. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven 10 minutes; continue baking at 350 degrees until filling is puffed and well browned—30 minutes longer. Filling will fall and set as it cools. Because the filling is thin the pie shell should be thin; it's easiest to roll out pastry so it's thin if you use a pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered rolling pin. If filling gets a very dark brown shortly before end of baking time, cover with a tent of foil.

DINNER FOR THREE

Breaded frying chops, mashed potatoes, green peas, applesauce, bread tray, rolled wafers, beverage.

Breaded Frying Chops

Quick to cook!

6 center-cut thin pork chops, about 1½ pounds

½ cup fine dry bread crumbs

½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Salt and pepper to taste

Large egg, slightly beaten

2 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine

Cut any fat away from around chops. In a shallow dish stir together the crumbs, poultry seasoning and salt and pepper; dip chops in mixture, then dip in egg and again in crumbs. In a large skillet in the hot butter fry chops over moderate heat until brown on both sides and cooked through. Makes 3 servings — 2 chops per portion.

Whooping Crane Dies Suddenly; Cause Sought

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pepper, one of only three whooping cranes ever born and bred in captivity, has died at 18.

Since cranes often live past the age of 60, Pepper's death is being investigated by the Louisiana State University School of Veterinary Medicine, the Louisiana Toxicology Laboratory and Tulane University.

Pepper's death Thursday came as a surprise because he gave "no warning that he was ailing or in anything but good health," said Audubon Park Director John A. Moore.

North America's largest bird, whooping cranes breed in Canada and winter in southeastern Texas and the marshes of Louisiana.

Present were: Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. William A. Cox, Mrs. Rex Wood, Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. William Curtiss, Mrs. O.C. West, Mrs. Ruby Wallon.

Mrs. Lloyd Kittle, Mrs. John Downs, Mrs. O. E. Barr, Mrs. Roger Murray, Mrs. M. E. Vorhees, Mrs. Orren Stout, Mrs. William Fisher, and Mrs. Pritt and Mrs. Drum.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kittle, 566 Oakland Terrace, with Mrs. Orren Stout as co-hostess.

AFTERNOON COFFEE

Vanilla chess pie and coffee.

Vanilla Chess Pie

Readers have requested this.

½ cup butter

1½ cups sugar

¼ teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vanilla

3 eggs

Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell,

trimmed and crimped

Cream butter, sugar, salt and vanilla. Thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time; mixture will be thick. Turn into pie shell. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven 10 minutes; continue baking at 350 degrees until filling is puffed and well browned—30 minutes longer. Filling will fall and set as it cools. Because the filling is thin the pie shell should be thin; it's easiest to roll out pastry so it's thin if you use a pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered rolling pin. If filling gets a very dark brown shortly before end of baking time, cover with a tent of foil.

DINNER FOR THREE

Breaded frying chops, mashed potatoes, green peas, applesauce, bread tray, rolled wafers, beverage.

Breaded Frying Chops

Quick to cook!

6 center-cut thin pork chops, about

1½ pounds

½ cup fine dry bread crumbs

½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Salt and pepper to taste

Large egg, slightly beaten

2 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine

Cut any fat away from around chops. In a shallow dish stir together the crumbs, poultry seasoning and salt and pepper; dip chops in mixture, then dip in egg and again in crumbs. In a large skillet in the hot butter fry chops over moderate heat until brown on both sides and cooked through. Makes 3 servings — 2 chops per portion.

Jurors Wear Badges In Hamilton County

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Jurors in all courts at the Hamilton County Courthouse are now wearing red, white and blue badges to identify them.
 Norman Zoller, common pleas court administrator, said Friday the badges will easily identify the jurors to lawyers, witnesses and spectators who will be instructed by trial judges not to discuss cases with jurors outside the courtroom.

'Other' Nixon Finds Name Problem

FONTANA, Calif. (AP) — His name makes him the target of a constant round of puns.
 But Richard M. Nixon, 19, has learned to take the teasing in stride. The M. in the youth's name is for Mark, and he is not related to the President.
 "People are always saying things like, 'Hello, Mr. President, how are things in the White House?'" he said. "If I try to charge something at a store, I'm usually told, 'Sorry, your credit's no good, ha! ha!' It isn't even funny anymore, but I try to be polite and smile once in a while."
 There are incidents, however, that can't be easily laughed off.
 "I was working the swing shift at TOP Manufacturers in Riverside at the time," he recalled in a recent interview. "One night, as I was leaving the parking lot about 1 or 2 a.m. this cop pulled me over. There had been some robberies at TOP and the police were patrolling the area."
 "So he asked me what I was doing there at that time of night and I told him I was on my way home. Then he asked for my driver's license. When I told him I'd lost my license and registration card, he asked me to get out of the car. After I got out, he asked me my name and when I told him — man, it was all over! He said, 'Okay, you smart punk, put your hands on the car and don't move.'"

 Nixon said, "After frisking me, he ran a check on my license plate. When he found out I was telling the truth, he started laughing like crazy and then he became real nice about the whole thing."
 Nixon plans to enter college this fall and wants to become a social worker. He is employed by the Kaiser Steel Corp., where his father also works. His mother is a teacher.

 Mrs. Nixon likes to tease her son about his name.
 "She wanted to name me Liberace," Nixon said, laughing. "Can you imagine anyone going through life with a name like that?"

U.S. Meat Imports Decline Despite Lifted Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon opening the door to more meat from foreign countries last year, shipments to U.S. markets actually dipped below 1972, according to Agriculture Department figures.
 Imports totaled 1.354 billion pounds in 1973, down from 1.355 billion in 1972, the department said in a report compiled by the Foreign Agricultural Service.
 Nixon suspended import quotas in June 1972 for the remainder of that year and continued the open door in 1973. The quotas also have been lifted for this year.
 The quotas, based on a 1964 law, apply only to fresh, frozen and chilled beef, veal, mutton and goat meat. Canned or processed meat is not restricted. Most of the quota-type meat is beef used for hamburger and other manufactured products.
 Department officials had estimated imports would total 1.4 billion pounds last year. But demand among many other countries pulled away large quantities which otherwise would have gone to U.S. buyers.
 For 1974, USDA estimates imports of quota-type meat will rise to 1.575 billion pounds.

 Australia, traditionally the largest supplier, shipped 708 million pounds to the United States last year, down 3 per cent from 1972, the report showed. Other countries showing declines from a year earlier were Canada, Mexico, Costa Rica, Ireland and Panama.
 New Zealand, the second largest provider, boosted shipments to the U.S. market by 9 per cent to 290.9 million pounds. Others showing increases were Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Haiti and the United Kingdom.

ANOTHER VIEW—Don Archer, Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District conservationist, and Sonny Nealey (right), farm drainage contractor and equipment salesman, watch the $80,000 ditcher owned by Bill Welch in operation at Pickaway Gardens' vineyard. A "high flotation" machine, Nealey says it can lay tile under almost any conditions. "If you can walk across a field, you can use this ditcher," he claims.

3,500 FEET AN HOUR—Bill Welch, farm drainage contractor of Bloomingburg, lays plastic tile at Pickaway Gardens' vineyard located on Route 56 near Thatcher. With the Hoes ditcher he is operating, Welch can lay between 3,000 and 3,500 feet an hour under almost any soil conditions. The grade is controlled by a laser beam. A vineyard requires much better drainage than other crops according to Don Archer, soil conservationist.

Open Probe Into Theft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A special grand jury has opened its probe into the theft of two Rembrandt paintings and took testimony Friday from a Cincinnati man who has been given immunity from prosecution.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. refused to say how long the jury would remain in session.

Three Loveland, Ohio, area men were arrested following return of the two paintings and recovery of a $100,000 ransom.

Donald Lee Johnson, 29, was granted immunity by Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William Mathews Friday before going before the special jury.

The paintings "Portrait of an Elderly Lady" and "Man Leaning on a Sill," valued at $2 million, were stolen Dec. 18 from The Taft Museum in downtown Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Enquirer quoted an unnamed police source as saying Johnson was a tipster in helping solve the case.

Plea Entered To Triple Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clifford Chase II, 19, accused of killing his parents and 17-year-old brother, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Friday to three charges of aggravated murder. No trial date was set.

Robert Chase, 44, his wife, Joan, 42, and son, Robert, were found shot to death in and near their suburban Worthington home Feb. 4. Clifford Chase reportedly told police he shot them during a quarrel the previous night.

'Pop' Fisher To Retire

KENT, Ohio (AP) — "Pop's Snow Squad" can hang up its shovels; the city's most famous school crossing guard says he's going to retire.

Lewis "Pop" Fisher won the support of Kent State University students through his friendliness and his defense of students after the May 1970 shootings. Four students were killed and nine were wounded in an antiwar demonstration during which Ohio National Guardsmen opened fire.

When he fell on ice in 1971, students began to clear snow and ice from the four-block route to his guard post, and the practice attracted national attention.

Fisher's wife also is to retire in May, and he says they will move to Florida. Asked how he feels about the prospect, Fisher said, "As long as there's plenty of beer and girls around, I'll be fine."

ANOTHER VIEW—Don Archer, Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District conservationist, and Sonny Nealey (right), farm drainage contractor and equipment salesman, watch the $80,000 ditcher owned by Bill Welch in operation at Pickaway Gardens' vineyard. A "high flotation" machine, Nealey says it can lay tile under almost any conditions. "If you can walk across a field, you can use this ditcher," he claims.

3,500 FEET AN HOUR—Bill Welch, farm drainage contractor of Bloomingburg, lays plastic tile at Pickaway Gardens' vineyard located on Route 56 near Thatcher. With the Hoes ditcher he is operating, Welch can lay between 3,000 and 3,500 feet an hour under almost any soil conditions. The grade is controlled by a laser beam. A vineyard requires much better drainage than other crops according to Don Archer, soil conservationist.

Open Probe Into Theft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A special grand jury has opened its probe into the theft of two Rembrandt paintings and took testimony Friday from a Cincinnati man who has been given immunity from prosecution.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. refused to say how long the jury would remain in session.

Three Loveland, Ohio, area men were arrested following return of the two paintings and recovery of a $100,000 ransom.

Donald Lee Johnson, 29, was granted immunity by Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William Mathews Friday before going before the special jury.

The paintings "Portrait of an Elderly Lady" and "Man Leaning on a Sill," valued at $2 million, were stolen Dec. 18 from The Taft Museum in downtown Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Enquirer quoted an unnamed police source as saying Johnson was a tipster in helping solve the case.

Vikings Dump Dublin, 80-56

Teays Valley humbled Dublin 80-56 Friday on the Viking floor to complete the Metropolitan League season with a 13-1 record.

Teays Valley had wrapped up the championship late in January with a win over Marysville. Last night's win set the stage for tonight's game with Circleville at the Mill Street Gymnasium at Circleville Junior High School.

The Vikings have an overall record of 16 wins and only one loss.

Jeff Anderson paced Teays Valley scoring 20 points on nine field goals and two foul shots. Jay Brinker notched 16 for the winners on six field goals and four foul shots. Craig Pontius netted 15 points on six field goals and three foul shots.

Rounding out the Viking scoring, Terry Collins tallied six, Terry Lambert, Lee Stiles, Chuck Glitt and Bill Browning added four each to the total, George Spohn and Jim Logsdon scored two each, Kevin Pettibone, Dave Glick and Steve Gregory one each.

Coach Bob Hoover emptied his bench and all 13 players scored.

For Dublin Rob Termeer and Stevens evenly divided 34 points, Ron Termeer scored nine.

It was never a contest. The Vikings jumped out to a 24-7 first quarter lead, were ahead 43-18 at halftime and 55-42 after three periods.

Teays Valley made 34 of 61 shots from the field, a 55 per cent accuracy rate, and 12 of 21 from the foul line, a 57 per cent mark. The Vikings had 42 rebounds and 17 turnovers. Collins led

Nicklaus Threatened

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The threat of violence—a vague, anonymous threat to kidnap Jack Nicklaus—hung over the third round of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament today.

"The call was received by our security people who notified the Los Angeles Police Department and the FBI," tournament chairman Jack Cummings said Friday night. "The appropriate steps have been taken. "The situation is under control."

Nicklaus, the premier player in the game and the first round leader, was three strokes back of leading Dave Stockton after two rounds of the $150,000 event, with streaking Johnny Miller just one shot off the leading pace.

Stockton had a scrambling, three-under-par 68 in the second round and had a 36 hole total of 136, six under par on the famed old Riviera Country Club course.

Miller, the U.S. Open champion and winner of three titles and more than $100,000 already this season, was tied with big Jimmy Wiechers at 137. Each had a second round 66 in bright, warm sunshine.

Reports circulated that Miller's life had been threatened, but Tom Hebert, the incoming president of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that "To our knowledge, any threats to other players have been received second hand."

"I don't know what the whole story is," Miller said.

"Heck," he continued, "If somebody is mad at me because I'm playing too good, I'll shoot 80 and make 'em happy."

The Circleville Herald, Saturday February 16, 1974 9

Oregon State Trips Bruins, 61-57

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — UCLA has won seven consecutive NCAA basketball championships, but Coach John Wooden now is just "concerned about us winning the conference title" after Friday night's shocking loss to Oregon State.

A sellout crowd of 10,376 here watched Oregon State, after several near misses in recent years, finally knock off the topranked Bruins 61-57.

"I have no explanation," Wooden said after UCLA lost its first Pacific-8 game in four years, snapping a 49-game conference winning streak. The Bruins hadn't lost a Pac-8 game since Southern California scored an 87-86 victory to end the 1970 season.

Oregon State lost to the Bruins 80-75 last weekend in Los Angeles, leading Wooden to say publicly that his team, particularly his seniors, lacked the killer instinct.

The loss Friday night confirmed his suspicion, he said.

"I was right about us not having the killer instinct. We're not as hungry as we should be," Wooden said.

"Oregon State played well," he added.

The Beavers did play well. However, OSU Coach Ralph Miller said, "UCLA is still No. 1, but I think we made some progress in the poll out there."

In the end it was four consecutive free throws by George Tucker, one of three freshman starters, that cost the Bruins their first Pac-8 defeat in eight games this season and left them 18-2 overall.

"George is the worst free throw shooter on the team," Miller said of the 18-year-old guard from Pasadena, Calif. "But, my, he hit four big ones there at the end."

Tucker hit two free throws after UCLA, behind by seven points, scored three straight times from the field to pull within one point with 42 seconds remaining.

Then, with OSU ahead 59-57, Tucker sank two more foul shots with 11 seconds to go, clinching the Beavers' third Pac-8 victory in eight games. OSU is 10-10 overall.

"I consider myself a good foul shooter," Tucker said, "but my statistics just don't show it." He's right. He had been shooting 35 per cent from the free throw line.

"I didn't even hear the crowd," he said. "That is how hard I was concentrating."

UCLA today moved into nearby Eugene for an afternoon game against the University of Oregon. Oregon lost to 13thranked Southern California, 6-2 in the Pac-8, by a 76-61 margin Friday night.

Only one other Top Twenty team was in action Friday night. No. 13 Southern California blasted Oregon 76-61.

John Lambert scored 25 points, 17 in the first half, to pace the Trojans' easy victory over their Pac-8 rival. Lambert, a 6-foot-10 junior, hit 7-of-7 field goal attempts and 3-of-4 shots from the foul line to guide Southern Cal.

Knights Top Crusaders

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — The Jersey Knights haven't had much to smile about in the last couple of weeks, thanks to a losing streak and inconsistent play that returned them to the cellar of the World Hockey Association's East Division.

But player-coach Harry Howell was smiling after Friday night's 6-2 triumph over the Cleveland Crusaders.

The Braves had a balanced scoring performance from Scott Pontius with 11, Scott Bower, Matt Martin and Derek Morris 10 each.

Other scorers for LE were Mitch Martin with seven, Terry Crumley with six, Phil Manson and Mike Miller four each and Brian Barr two.

Nicklaus Threatened

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The threat of violence—a vague, anonymous threat to kidnap Jack Nicklaus—hung over the third round of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament today.

"The call was received by our security people who notified the Los Angeles Police Department and the FBI," tournament chairman Jack Cummings said Friday night. "The appropriate steps have been taken."

"The situation is under control." Nicklaus, the premier player in the game and the first round leader, was three strokes back of leading Dave Stockton after two rounds of the $150,000 event, with streaking Johnny Miller just one shot off the leading pace.

Stockton had a scrambling, three-under-par 68 in the second round and had a 36 hole total of 136, six under par on the famed old Riviera Country Club course.

Miller, the U.S. Open champion and winner of three titles and more than $100,000 already this season, was tied with big Jimmy Wiechers at 137. Each had a second round 66 in bright, warm sunshine.

Reports circulated that Miller's life had been threatened, but Tom Hebert, the incoming president of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that "To our knowledge, any threats to other players have been received second hand."

"I don't know what the whole story is," Miller said.

"Heck," he continued, "If somebody is mad at me because I'm playing too good, I'll shoot 80 and make 'em happy."

Oregon State Trips Bruins, 61-57

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — UCLA has won seven consecutive NCAA basketball championships, but Coach John Wooden now is just "concerned about us winning the conference title" after Friday night's shocking loss to Oregon State.

A sellout crowd of 10,376 here watched Oregon State, after several near misses in recent years, finally knock off the top-ranked Bruins 61-57.

"I have no explanation," Wooden said after UCLA lost its first Pacific-8 game in four years, snapping a 49-game conference winning streak. The Bruins hadn't lost a Pac-8 game since Southern California scored an 87-86 victory to end the 1970 season.

Oregon State lost to the Bruins 80-75 last weekend in Los Angeles, leading Wooden to say publicly that his team, particularly his seniors, lacked the killer instinct.

The loss Friday night confirmed his suspicion, he said.

"I was right about us not having the killer instinct. We're not as hungry as we should be," Wooden said.

"Oregon State played well," he added.

The Beavers did play well. However, OSU Coach Ralph Miller said, "UCLA is still No. 1, but I think we made some progress in the poll out there."

In the end it was four consecutive free throws by George Tucker, one of three freshman starters, that cost the Bruins their first Pac-8 defeat in eight games this season and left them 18-2 over-all.

"George is the worst free throw shooter on the team," Miller said of the 18-year-old guard from Pasadena, Calif. "But, my, he hit four big ones there at the end."

Tucker hit two free throws after UCLA, behind by seven points, scored three straight times from the field to pull within one point with 42 seconds remaining.

Then, with OSU ahead 59-57, Tucker sank two more foul shots with 11 seconds to go, clinching the Beavers' third Pac-8 victory in eight games. OSU is 10-10 over-all.

"I consider myself a good foul shooter," Tucker said, "but my statistics just don't show it." He's right. He had been shooting 35 per cent from the free throw line.

"I didn't even hear the crowd," he said. "That is how hard I was concentrating."

UCLA today moved into nearby Eugene for an afternoon game against the University of Oregon. Oregon lost to 13th-ranked Southern California, 6-2 in the Pac-8, by a 76-61 margin Friday night.

Only one other Top Twenty team was in action Friday night. No. 13 Southern California blasted Oregon 76-61.

John Lambert scored 25 points, 17 in the first half, to pace the Trojans' easy victory over their Pac-8 rival. Lambert, a 6-foot-10 junior, hit 7-of-7 field goal attempts and 3-of-4 shots from the foul line to guide Southern Cal.

Knights Top Crusaders

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — The Jersey Knights haven't had much to smile about in the last couple of weeks, thanks to a losing streak and inconsistent play that returned them to the cellar of the World Hockey Association's East Division.

But player-coach Harry Howell was smiling after Friday night's 6-2 triumph over the Cleveland Crusaders.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Financial or marital issues could have some bearing on career matters coming up, so try to reach a clear-cut decision before Monday.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): In social situations, it would be best to stress conventionality now. You could unintentionally give a wrong impression of yourself, otherwise.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Be alert now. Others may be trying to outmaneuver you. Keep eyes, ears open so that you don't miss a trick.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some trying situations possible. Be alert and remain your calm, capable self, and problems will be resolved more easily. A bit of clever strategy will also help.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Waste no time in daydreaming. Think constructively and direct all efforts into channels leading to a more profitable future. The p.m. favors romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You must discount rumors now - heeding or passing them on. Stick to facts. Don't jump the gun in new ventures, either.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A generally good day, but be alert and don't fall for propositions offered by those who have proven unreliable in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Your innate aggressiveness will prove an advantage in conducting day's activities. Don't go overboard and alienate friends or associates, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You should receive information which clarifies a financial situation. It may not be all you hope for, but at least it will get to the core of truth.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An excellent day in which to formulate long-range plans. Something which has seemed out of reach is closer than you may imagine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Stress diplomacy. A high-handed attitude will only make you unpopular.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): The position of Neptune now stimulates ambition and bright new ideas. But, in presenting the later, be

Allison Wins Permatex

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Allison, who wins money and friends wherever he races, figures he has a pretty good chance to make more of both before Speed Week ends with the $275,000 Daytona 500 Sunday.

Allison won the Permatex 200 modified race with its $6,750 prize Friday and is one of the top favorites in Permatex 300 for modified cars today, as well as the main event for late model sedans Sunday, richest stock car race ever run.

"My chances are pretty good to make it a triple," said the 37-year-old driver from Hueytown, Ala. "But it takes luck to win. It was on my side so far."

His 1973 Camaro was not up to par from the start of the modified race, keeping him from racing with Maynard Troyer's Mustang II and Paul Radford's Gremlin. But they both broke down, and Allison nursed his car to victory by more than a minute over another veteran, DeWayne "Tiny" Lund of Cross, S.C., also in a Camaro.

Young Country

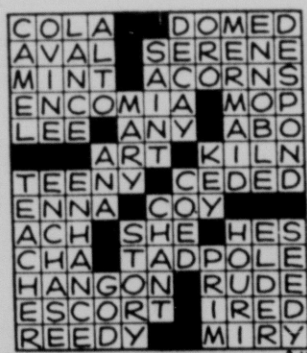

NEW YORK (AP) — Approximately 800 million people live in the People's Republic of China — almost 1/4 of all the people on the planet. "China Journal," a book published here by Rand McNally, reveals that two-thirds of all these people are under 30 and half are under 18 years of age. This "half under 18" group is twice as many people as live in the United States.

In 1967, Flamenco dancer Solero de Jerez was timed at 16 heel taps per second in Brisbane, Australia.

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Ben Jipcho, the durable Kenyan, had just completed a long distance double, rarely seen in the United States, winning the mile and the two-mile races in the first meet of the 1974 International Track Association pro tour, when he said with gross understatement: "I thought I did pretty well, considering all the handicaps I had to contend with tonight."

Jipcho then enumerated his handicaps. "I was running indoors for the first time," he said. "I had a cough, I had a cold, and I suffered a blister on my foot after the first race (the two-mile)."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Financial or marital issues could have some bearing on career matters coming up, so try to reach a clear-cut decision before Monday.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): In social situations, it would be best to stress conventionality now. You could unintentionally give a wrong impression of yourself, otherwise.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Be alert now. Others may be trying to outmaneuver you. Keep eyes, ears open so that you don't miss a trick.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some trying situations possible. Be alert and remain your calm, capable self, and problems will be resolved more easily. A bit of clever strategy will also help.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Waste no time in daydreaming. Think constructively and direct all efforts into channels leading to a more profitable future. The p.m. favors romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You must discount rumors now - heading or passing them on. Stick to facts. Don't jump the gun in new ventures, either.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A generally good day, but be alert and don't fall for propositions offered by those who have proven unreliable in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Your innate aggressiveness will prove an advantage in conducting day's activities. Don't go overboard and alienate friends or associates, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21): You should receive information which clarifies a financial situation. It may not be all you hope for, but at least it will get to the core of truth.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An excellent day in which to formulate long-range plans. Something which has seemed out of reach is closer than you may imagine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Stress diplomacy. A high-handed attitude will only make you unpopular.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): The position of Neptune now stimulates ambition and bright new ideas. But, in presenting the later, be careful. You COULD outtalk yourself.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with many fine traits which can lead to a most successful life - notably, a magnetic personality, outstanding integrity, sound sense and the ability to put good ideas over the top. You can add the touch that makes the ordinary undertaking sparkle, start unique enterprises with a vim that enthralls all about you. You have extraordinary sales ability and, with a flair for the dramatic, could succeed as an entertainer, writer or, in the legal field, as a trial lawyer.

Ashville Boy Prosecuted For Speeding Charges

An Ashville boy arrested for two counts of speeding was prosecuted in Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week by the assistant county prosecutor. Along with Richard Atthey, 17, 317 Long St., Ashville, Judge Guy Cline heard cases involving two other traffic offenders, five delinquents and two adults.

Court authorities report that Atthey has a record of several offenses in the Franklin County area but appeared in this county on only two charges. The court sentenced him to a $25 suspended fine, ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one year. Atthey was ordered by the court to attend traffic school and secure liability insurance.

Douglas Fultz, 16, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, appeared on a speeding charge filed by the State Highway Patrol. Judge Cline sentenced him to a $10 suspended fine and ordered him to pay the costs and attend traffic school. Fultz's license was suspended for one month.

A similar sentence was passed on Jeffrey M. Allen, 17, Route 3, Mt. Sterling. He had also been arrested for speeding, had his $10 fine suspended and was ordered to attend traffic school and pay court costs. The court allowed Allen driving privileges for work and traffic school only during his one-month suspension.

Two Circleville youths, a 15-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl, were charged with violation of probation and were sentenced to ten days in jail with all but one weekend suspended for the boy and all but three weekends suspended for the girl. Probation was continued on each of the youths. Thomas Francis Snyder, 21, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, appeared before Judge Cline on a charge of violation of probation. Snyder's original charge was contributing to the delinquency of a minor and he was ordered to report to his probation officer which he had failed to do. The court sentenced him to ten days in jail and suspended the remainder of the days after he had spent seven days incarcerated.

A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended for a 16-year-old Route 3, Orient boy. The boy had been charged by Sheriff's Deputy Donald Thompson for breaking and entering and grand larceny. The boy was ordered to make restitution and pay the court costs and placed on probation for three years.

Identical charges and sentences were placed against two other Route 3, Orient boys, ages 17 and 18. The two youths were also given suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed on probation for three years after the charges were filed by Thompson.

A case of child abuse was dismissed against William Whiteside, 34, Route 1, Lockbourne. Judge Cline found Whiteside not guilty of the charge filed by his wife for abusing his step-daughter.

Five other cases were completed in the court during the week. One case was transferred to Ross County where the accused was a resident. Three youths were released from probation because they were over 18 years of age and one was released because he had joined the United States Marines.

Treasurer Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Romana Acosta Banuelos is resigning as Treasurer of the United States, a post she has held since 1972, according to sources.

The sources said Mrs. Banuelos, 49, decided to resign partly because of a reorganization of her office that reduced her responsibilities considerably.

As treasurer, Mrs. Banuelos' signature appeared on U.S. paper currency, a responsibility that remains with the office under the reorganization.

Confirmed as treasurer in January 1972, Mrs. Banuelos was the highest ranking person of Mexican decent to occupy a position in President Nixon's administration.

She was unavailable for comment. Her resignation was understood to be effective immediately.

Skies cleared across the state during the night, letting temperatures fall in to the 20s and below. The pre-dawn reading at Toledo was 12 degrees. Highs this afternoon were expected to climb again into the 30s or low 40s as cloudiness gradually increases.

Ohio is between two low pressure systems. One is near Alabama the other over Lake Superior. These systems were keeping most of the precipitation today to the north and south of the state.

As this system moves eastward, there is a chance of light snow or rain, mainly in eastern Ohio, followed by more clearing tonight. Lows tonight should be mostly in the 20s.

Some sunshine is likely Sunday as a high pressure system moves into the weather picture. Highs should reach the 30s or 40s by afternoon.

Series Planned For High School Drop Outs

A television series of 60 lessons has been designed to assist individuals to prepare for a high school equivalency certificate. The series, for area residents who have not yet completed their high school education, will premier on WOSU-TV channel 34 on March 4.

Two lessons a week, each repeated at least twice, will permit the student viewer his choice of viewing times. Each of the 60 lessons will last 30 minutes. The program is produced by Manpower Education Institute, New York, and is a non-profit foundation whose aim is to solve urban problems caused by automation, lack of education and underemployment.

Anyone who is at least 19 years of age, whose high school class has already graduated and who has been out of school for at least two years is eligible for registration in the telecourse. Completion of the course will more fully prepare the student to take the General Development Tests through which the high school equivalency certificate is granted.

Three study guides to be used in conjunction with the telecasts can be obtained by sending $10 to FUTURE, 2400 Olentangy River Road, Columbus. Courses will include in order, 26 lessons in social studies, science and literature; 17 lessons in grammar, usage, spelling and vocabulary; and 17 lessons in mathematics. The telecast is designed so that a student may see a whole sequence several times over a span of 15 months.

Sponsored by the Ohio State Board of Education, the program has sparked local interest from the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and they are currently making plans toward a central meeting place for student Prime Rate Coming Down Across U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Commercial banks' prime lending rate is going down after last year's controversial gains, and many analysts contend the severity of the nation's economic problems will determine how far it falls.

The prime rate, the base lending fee on loans to top business customers, isn't directly tied to consumer and small business loans. But it frequently is a guide to trends in the rates charged on such loans and interest charges in general.

Money analysts and economists say the prime's decline in 1974 is very much tied to the state of the economy, just as its rise to an all-time high of 10 per cent was linked to the economy in 1973.

Bankers Trust Co., the nation's eighth largest commercial bank, announced Thursday it was dropping its prime rate to 9 per cent from 9 1/4 per cent. The smaller First National Bank in St. Louis and Manufacturers Bank in Los Angeles did the same, as did Cleveland Trust Co. last week. The lower rate was expected to become industrywide.

Money analysts add that there is little doubt that there will be more drops shortly.

In the long run, Lionel D. Edie, the research arm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, predicts the rate before moving up again will hit a low of 6 1/2 per cent in September or sooner — close to the 6 per cent level at the beginning of 1973.

The research firm, which contends the nation already is into its third month of a recession, says slowed business activity is lowering demand for loans. This, it says, makes the supply of loan funds more available and pushes down the cost of borrowing.

Ashville Boy Prosecuted For Speeding Charges

An Ashville boy arrested for two counts of speeding was prosecuted in Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week by the assistant county prosecutor. Along with Richard Athey, 17, 317 Long St., Ashville, Judge Guy Cline heard cases involving two other traffic offenders, five delinquents and two adults.

Court authorities report that Athey has a record of several offenses in the Franklin County area but appeared in this county on only two charges. The court sentenced him to a $25 suspended fine, ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one year. Athey was ordered by the court to attend traffic school and secure liability insurance.

Douglas Fultz, 16, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, appeared on a speeding charge filed by the State Highway Patrol. Judge Cline sentenced him to a $10 suspended fine and ordered him to pay the costs and attend traffic school. Fultz's license was suspended for one month.

A similar sentence was passed on Jeffrey M. Allen, 17, Route 3, Mt. Sterling. He had also been arrested for speeding, had his $10 fine suspended and was ordered to attend traffic school and pay court costs. The court allowed Allen driving privileges for work and traffic school only during his one-month suspension.

Two Circleville youths, a 15-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl, were charged with violation of probation and were sentenced to ten days in jail with all but one weekend suspended for the boy and all but three weekends suspended for the girl. Probation was

Thomas Francis Snyder, 21, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, appeared before Judge Cline on a charge of violation of probation. Snyder's original charge was contributing to the delinquency of a minor and he was ordered to report to his probation officer which he had failed to do. The court sentenced him to ten days in jail and suspended the remainder of the days after he had spent seven days incarcerated.

A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended for a 16-year-old Route 3, Orient boy. The boy had been charged by Sheriff's Deputy Donald Thompson for breaking and entering and grand larceny. The boy was ordered to make restitution and pay the court costs and placed on probation for three years.

Identical charges and sentences were placed against two other Route 3, Orient boys, ages 17 and 18. The two youths were also given suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed on probation for three years after the charges were filed by Thompson.

A case of child abuse was dismissed against William Whiteside, 34, Route 1, Lockbourne. Judge Cline found Whiteside not guilty of the charge filed by his wife for abusing his step-daughter.

Five other cases were completed in the court during the week. One case was transferred to Ross County where the accused was a resident. Three youths were released from probation because they were over 18 years of age and one was released because he had joined the United States Marines.

Treasurer Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Romana Acosta Banuelos is resigning as Treasurer of the United States, a post she has held since 1972, according to sources.

The sources said Mrs. Banuelos, 49, decided to resign partly because of a reorganization of her office that reduced her responsibilities considerably.

As treasurer, Mrs. Banuelos' signature appeared on U.S. paper currency, a responsibility that remains with the office under the reorganization.

Confirmed as treasurer in January 1972, Mrs. Banuelos was the highest ranking person of Mexican decent to occupy a position in President Nixon's administration.

She was unavailable for comment. Her resignation was understood to be effective immediately.

Skies cleared across the state during the night, letting temperatures fall in to the 20s and below. The pre-dawn reading at Toledo was 12 degrees. Highs this afternoon were expected to climb again into the 30s or low 40s as cloudiness gradually increases.

Ohio is between two low pressure systems. One is near Alabama the other over Lake Superior. These systems were keeping most of the precipitation today to the north and south of the state.

As this system moves eastward, there is a chance of light snow or rain, mainly in eastern Ohio, followed by more clearing tonight. Lows tonight should be mostly in the 20s.

Some sunshine is likely Sunday as a high pressure system moves into the weather picture. Highs should reach the 30s or 40s by afternoon.
